

II.1.10.	Repeat and Reject Analysis	A repeat and reject analysis is a record of how many times it was necessary to re take an exposure either due to mis alignment and or poor image quality. A Record of how many exposures per month are taken and how many of that total had to be repeated. converted to a percentage. May not increase with more than 2% from the previous determined rate and total rate should not exceed 10% IB must check that software/procedure is in place.
Pass = P
Fail = F
Not applicable =N/A															